

PRODUCT ROADMAP

Eventually we would be adding features like a leaderboard where people would be contesting with their friend circles or families to become the most sustainable version of themselves.

By giving people a target and showing them how their neighbours are keeping up and adapting to the need of the hour, we can inculcate a healthy competition which leads to a healthier and sustainable community.

Tasks can be interesting and fun to do so that people can actually do them in groups in order to reach a community standard where everyone is working towards a better tomorrow together. This is a longterm goal that we have for this idea.
